Here and There

Editorial By ALEX. H. WASHBURN

I HAVE erred," said Samuel Insull, "but my greatest error was in underestimating the financial panic in American securities." This was his answer, denying the government's charge of intentional fraud—and the Chicago jury believed him Saturday night, and turned him loose.

DEPRESSION "GOAT"

Torn Chart in Jury Room Reveals What 12 Men Were Thinking

CHICAGO.—The great Insull mail fraud trial, which makes new history in the financial world, ended Saturday night in a verdict of not guilty for Samuel Insull and all of his 16 former associates in the utilities and financial fields.

The jurors in Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson's court room, where the case has been on trial for eight weeks, reached their decision, within two hours after the court had given them instructions to make a thorough examination of the case presented for and against each defendant.

There evidently was no need for this. There were no torn ballots in the jury room and one juror said that he had made up his mind two weeks after the case started. The jury took only three ballots. The first was nine to three for acquittal, the second 11 to one and the third was unanimous.

Depression Victims
A torn chart was found in the jury room in which the course of the world depression had been traced for several years. This was taken as an indication of the trial of thought in the jury room, that they considered these defendants victims of the depression rather than men of criminal intent.

As soon as the verdict had been announced the defendants and their wives rushed to the jury box and amid tears of happiness shook hands with the smiling jurors.

"I look on this as the start of my vindication," said Samuel Insull as he struggled in the center of a hand-shaking crowd.

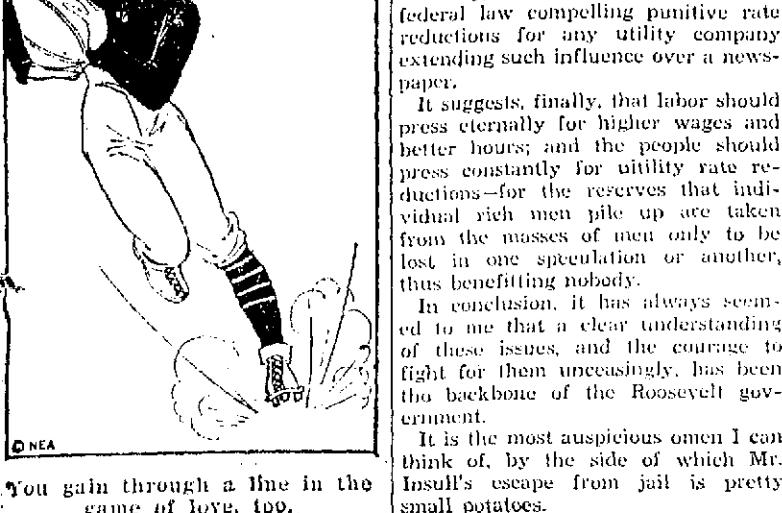

There are other indictments against him in the state and federal courts.

Bobcats, Playing Year's Best Game, Hold Tigers 10-0

Little Rock Is Limited to One Touchdown and Field Goal

THRICE NEAR GOAL

Hope Gets Beyond 5-Yard Line, But Unable to Push Ball Over

By Leonard Ellis
The Little Rock High School football team met stubborn opposition from a fighting pack of Bobcats here Saturday afternoon but finally developed enough power to take a close 10-0 victory.

The courageous Bobcat eleven charged with fury and outplayed the invading Tigers for nearly three periods of the game, but lacked the necessary punch to score.

Three times the Bobcats struck with bewildering swiftness to move the ball within Little Rock's 10-yard line. Twice in the first quarter the Bobcats were within the 3-yard stripe, but on each occasion they faltered in futile efforts to push across.

Outplayed throughout the first quarter and most of the second the Little Rock team took possession of the ball on a punt in the last five minutes of the second quarter and crossed the 50-yard line for the first time.

Little Rock Scores
Once in Bobcat territory, the Tigers started a drive. Ed McCully, Tiger quarterback, flipped a 27-yard pass to Withers; end, who was brought down on the 12-yard line. Thorpe, 185-pound halfback and the main threat the visitors had to offer, plunged to the two-yard line. From that point, Stiffman, fullback, plunged over. Withers kicked goal.

The Tigers' only other score resulted from a field goal in the third quarter. After Little Rock had marched to the Hope 20-yard line, the Bobcats tightened. The Tigers were held for no gain on two downs and lost a yard or so on a third attempt. Withers then dropped back and with McCully holding the ball, booted the oval between the goal posts. It was a beautiful kick.

The Bobcats received, Madison returning the kickoff to the 33-yard line. A pass from Madison to Kennedy netted 17 yards. He hurled another pass to Kennedy for a first down. And then the spectators were brought to their feet when Payne took the ball, faked it to Madison who shot another long pass to Kennedy, placing the ball on the nine-yard line. Again the Bobcats were held for four downs and the ball went to Little Rock.

The Bobcats never made another serious threat to score, although they were in possession of the ball on Little Rock's 30-yard line when the

Last Call Made for Babies' Cards

Parents Should Register Youngsters Under One Year of Age

LITTLE ROCK.—"Parents of babies in Hempstead county less than one year of age should not overlook the importance of the small yellow cards every family in Arkansas received through the mail from the Bureau of the Census recently," cautions Dr. W. B. Grayson, special agent of the census bureau who is also state health officer in Arkansas.

Distributed as one of the initial steps in the statewide "Register Your Baby" campaign inaugurated several weeks ago in Arkansas, the cards ask for certain facts relative to babies born within the last twelve months. Whether or not parents are certain that their babies' birth has been officially recorded, the cards should be filled out and immediately dropped back in the mails, without postage. The cards first go to Washington and then are sent to the State Health Department at Little Rock where they are being checked against existing birth records.

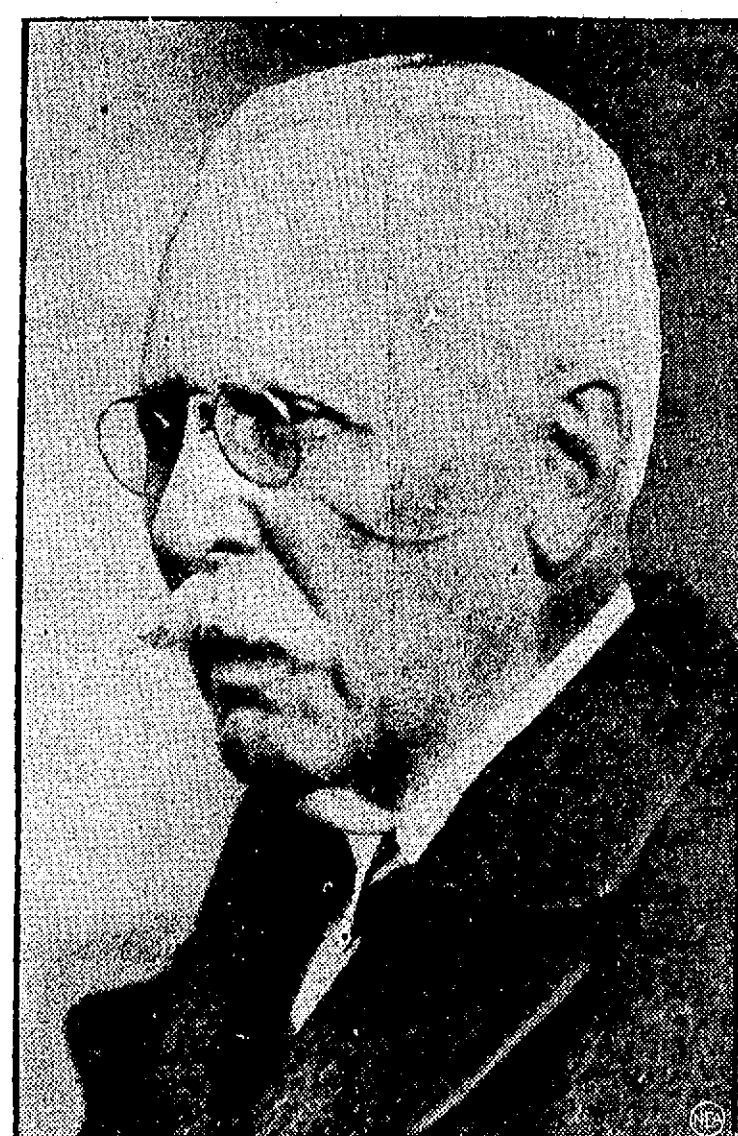

"That it should be the wish of every father and mother in the state to return this card with the desired information is the intention of Dr. Grayson," an official birth certificate is a baby's first right as an American citizen," he said, and they prove of great value in later life.

Up to last Saturday more than 18,000 cards had been returned from every county in the state to the State Health Department at Little Rock. FERA clerks are now busy checking babies that were registered and those that have failed to secure their "citizenship" certificates.

Aristocratic in its aims, the "Register Your Baby" campaign is being sponsored in Arkansas and other states through the cooperation of the Bureau of the Census, Emergency Relief Administration and State Health Department.

It is the most auspicious omen I can think of, by the side of which Mr. Insull's escape from jail is pretty small potatoes.

"I Have Erred, But ...."

Upon his return to the American shore months ago, in the hands of American authorities who had extradited him from Greece, whence he fled following the collapse of his great utility empire, Samuel Insull said: "I have erred, but my greatest error was in underestimating the effect of the financial panic in American securities."

Grim and gray in the photograph made at that time, he thus explained the downfall of his mighty financial house.

And the Chicago jury, listening to his own story, cleared the 71-year-old prisoner last Saturday night.

Long Police Docket Is Heard Monday

Curly Moore Bound Over on Two Charges of Burglary

Curly Moore, negro police character, was bound over to the grand jury in municipal court Monday morning on two charges of burglary and grand larceny.

Bond in each case was fixed at $300. Moore is charged with entering Arkansas Machine Specialty company and Plunkett-Jarrell Grocery company.

At the time of his arrest here, Moore was under a 3-year suspended penitentiary sentence on charges of burglary and grand larceny. Several months ago he was wounded by police guns when trapped in a robbery attempt at Stephenson's grocery store.

Results of more than two dozen other cases brought before Judge W. K. Loomer were as follows:
U. O. Reese and D. M. Harris, Sabbath breaking, each fined $10 and costs. Notice of appeal filed in each case.

E. L. Lane, Sabbath breaking, fined $10 and costs. Notice of appeal given. A similar charge was dismissed against Lane.

Earl Montgomery, Sabbath breaking, fined $10 and costs. Notice of appeal filed. Another charge of Sabbath breaking was dismissed.

George Northcott, erecting and maintaining a wooden building or structure in the fire limits of Hope, fined $5 and costs. Notice of appeal filed.

Anon McKinghy was fined $10 and costs on one charge of Sabbath breaking.

Bus Driver Gives Clue in Triple Murder Near Carlisle, Pa.

TICKET AT BOSTON

Three Rode to Harrisburg in Company of Woman, Driver Testifies

CARLISLE, Pa.—(AP)—The first definite clue to the identities of three fair-haired little girls, found dead in a mountain thicket near here late Saturday, turned the attention of authorities toward New York and New England Monday in their investigation.

The information came from Paul White, Harrisburg (Pa.) bus driver, who, after viewing the bodies, said he was certain they were the three children who accompanied a woman from New York to Harrisburg in his bus late Wednesday.

White also positively identified a suitcase, picked up two miles from where the girls' bodies were found, as one of three carried by the woman on the trip.

The party had tickets from Boston, White said.

Judge Bush Rules in Favor Back Pay

Hold Illegal the Delegation of Power to Quorum Courts

LITTLE ROCK.—Circuit Judge Dexter Bush of Prescott Saturday reversed an order issued several weeks ago by County Judge Cook denying claims for back salaries alleged due deputies in the county clerk's office and in the sheriff's and collector's office under the Terry salary act of 1933, and held that Section 4 of the act is unconstitutional in that the state legislature has no right to delegate to the Quorum Court the right to fix the number of deputies or their salaries.

The decision was given at the end of a three-hour hearing in second division circuit court on the appeals of Charles E. Caple, deputy county clerk, and Ernest Tipton, former deputy sheriff, who had filed claims for $245 and $200, respectively.

The separate appeals were consolidated for the hearing. Judge Mann disqualified himself and asked Judge Bush to conduct the hearing.

Other deputies in the county clerk's office and deputies in the sheriff and collector's office also filed claims for back salaries at the time Mr. Caple filed his, but did not appear at Circuit Court. All these claims aggregate more than $6,000.

Officials estimated that if all county employees whose salaries have been cut below those fixed by the Terry act file claims before January 1, the county will be faced with an additional expenditure of between $12,000 and $15,000, provided the supreme court upholds Judge Bush's decision.

Judge Cook said that the ruling is a serious blow to efforts made during the last two years to improve the county's financial condition.

Deputies in other offices expect to file claims before January 1, it was indicated.

P. A. Lesley, special attorney for the county, made a motion for a new trial immediately after Judge Bush announced his decision. The motion was overruled by the judge and Mr. Lesley announced that he would appeal to the Arkansas Supreme Court.

Milburn Captures Insurance Prize Wins Metropolitan Life Turkey for Pine Bluff District

A big turkey dinner is assured for Richard Milburn, former principal of Hope High School.

Mr. Milburn was awarded first prize Monday for selling the most insurance among Metropolitan agents in the Pine Bluff district, which embraces all of South Arkansas.

Competing for the turkey were 29 other agents. Mr. Milburn joined the Metropolitan Insurance company less than three months ago.

Recently he took second prize in a contest among the 30 agents of south Arkansas.

JONESBORO, Ark.—(AP)—Rufe Pershal and Riley Gunn, first persons in Arkansas to be indicted under the Lindbergh kidnapping law, Monday pleaded not guilty in federal district court. They are charged with illegally transporting two men across the state line into Missouri.

CINCINNATI, Ohio.—(AP)—Detectives sent to Columbus, Ohio, reported to their headquarters here Monday that a man found slain and crammed into a barrel there had been identified as Alvin Brunner, Brooklyn auctioneer. The body was found early Monday when Jacob Fischhoff went into his basement to fire the furnace.

NASHVILLE, Tenn.—(AP)—Following word that Thomas H. Robinson, Jr., accused as the kidnaper of Mrs. Harry V. Staff of Louisville, was headed toward Nashville, Tennessee officers were on the alert Monday for the possible capture of the former law student and asylum inmate. Robinson is reported to be hitch-hiking toward Nashville.

Standard Oil Men to Meet Tuesday

Talking Pictures to Be Displayed at Capital Hotel in Hope

A sales policy meeting of 75 dealers and service station salesmen of the Standard Oil Company of Louisiana will be held here Tuesday, November 27, at the New Capital hotel.

The meeting will be conducted by E. L. Litchfield, general salesman, and will be addressed by J. T. Rhodes, P. J. Ward and E. P. Lyons, in charge of the company's sales in this state. W. M. Rogers, assistant manager of the wholesale division, will also be in attendance, as well as several other sales executives from the main office in Little Rock. Local Standard oil men participating will include: Frank R. Johnson, sales agent, and H. H. Cole, supervising salesman of the Retail Division.

The oil men will be seeing motion pictures and a sound slide film which will give them technical and merchandising information to assist them in their sales work at the service station. Refreshments will be served.

This is the third sales meeting which the Louisiana company executives have held with dealers and service station men in this area this year. All meetings have been featured by talking pictures. Similar meetings will be held throughout the state at this time.

U. S. Colonization Plan to Proceed

Hopkins Will Ignore Adverse Ruling of U. S. Comptroller

WASHINGTON.—(AP)—In the face of a ruling by Comptroller General J. R. McCall that such use of relief funds is illegal, the relief administration Sunday announced tentative approval of 50 rural-industrial communities for the destitute unemployed.

The FERA also made public a significant statement of policy, written recently by Harry L. Hopkins, the relief administrator, to one of his aides.

"I want to see the number of rural industrial communities multiplied as rapidly as our united forces are able to proceed on a sound basis," said the Hopkins memorandum, which said the Hopkins memorandum would evolve a combination of industrial employment and subsistence farming that will provide social and economic security to thousands of families now residing in overcrowded urban centers."

SALARY ACT GOOD

Union County Law Again Upheld, Clerk Losing His Suit

LITTLE ROCK.—(AP)—The Arkansas Supreme Court put itself in reverse Monday, overruling decrees in eight of 13 appeals decided at a short session.

The decisions including the upholding of the horsepower and per-hundredweight tax on for-hire automobiles. The court held the 1934 refunding act, levying a tax of 45 cents per horsepower and $1.50 per hundredweight on automobiles for hire, to be valid.

The court also upheld the validity of Union county's initiated salary act No. 1 again, this time involving the appeal of Circuit Clerk Goode to collect $2,591 dollars in fees he alleged to be due him as ex-officio chancery clerk.

Other cases included: J. G. Clark and Hugh Ross vs. W. T. Matlock, administrator of the estate of Grady Russell, Clark circuit, reversed and remanded, the court holding that there was no agreement between Clark and Ross and Russell over the repair of a fence which the latter claimed was responsible for crop damage.

Life & Casualty Insurance Co. vs. Hezekiah Goodwin and Hattie Goodwin, Ouachita circuit, reversed and remanded.

Oscar Berryman, administrator, vs. Cuddehay Packing company, Pope circuit, reversed and remanded.

14 Wolves Slain by Local Hunters

Miles Downs and 2 Little Rock Men Make Red River "Cleanup"

Fourteen fierce and snarling wolves, said to be of the man-eating variety, have been shot down within the last 12 days by three local hunters in Red river bottoms, and the wolf-tails, all bushy and big, were displayed to The Star office Monday by Miles Downs, of the state highway police.

With Mr. Downs were Harley Baskin, state patrolman, and J. Clare Smith, auditor for the State Highway Department, both of Little Rock.

The men, having been informed of the presence of a wolf pack, baited likely-looking game trails with cat-liver—and then opened fire with pistols as the wolves approached.

The hunters said they "got" most of the pack—but they issued a challenge to other local hunters to tie this record if they can.

Working With Hands May Cause Cramps

I have mentioned frequently in this column the unusual forms of painful conditions which develop in certain kinds of jobs.

Probably you know about writer's cramp, but are you aware that there are similar conditions occurring among telegraphers, hammerers, and twister's cramp seems to occur more often in people who are inclined to be nervous and anxious than in those who are more stolid and robust. However, overwork seems to play a definite part in its appearance.

Fourteen of 8500 employees in the Postoffice Department in Great Britain had to be transferred to other kinds of work because they developed writer's cramp. That, of course, means that transfer to another kind of work is usually the best cure for this condition.

Sometimes a cure may be obtained by changing to a different kind of pen, to a different position of sitting when working, leaning to use a type-writer, or writing with the left hand instead of the right.

The cause of writer's cramp is believed to be the development of some sort of overstimulation of the part of the brain and the nervous system concerned in the writing technic. The symptoms of writer's cramp are, of course, a spasm and weakness of the hand used in writing.

Telegrapher's cramp is something of the same kind, but occurs to men who punch the telegraph key and afflicts the hand and arm that are concerned in the work.

The twister's cramp occurs to people in the weaving industry who spend most of their time twisting for weaving purposes.

In each instance, of course, a change in occupation and a removal of the particular stress which brought on the disturbance will relieve the condition.

Of a different character is the effect of pneumatic tools on the tissues involved in holding the pneumatic hammer. Two factors apparently are involved. One is the pressure of the tool and the vibration which affects the circulation in the fingers, especially the left hand. The fingers in this hand are likely to go dead or numb.

The other effect is the condition of cold produced by the escape of compressed air on the hands.

Other investigators feel that the form of the tool, the way in which it is held, its weight, and the noise associated with the work may be involved in producing the serious changes in the blood vessels which are later reflected in the tissues of the hand.

Liability to this condition increases as time goes on and the only hope for relief is removal from this type of work to some other work in which the hands are not constantly subjected to the vibration and the cold.

A BOOK A DAY

By BRUCE CATTION

Sees Ray of Hope in Tour of Spain—Tomlinson Grows Hopeful as He Studies Simple Life.

In "South to Cadiz," H. M. Tomlinson once more uses a trip to foreign parts as a point of vantage from which to survey an unsatisfactory world.

One more he sees plenty to persuade him that we are all rushing down a steep place into the sea; but here and there, shining over the peaks of Granada and elsewhere, he does see a ray of hope on the horizon.

Mr. Tomlinson tells how a London editor invited him to cover last year's world economic conference. He declined hastily, remarking that it was fitting that the affair should be held in a geological museum; then he hastened off to Spain on a holiday, to loaf and invite his soul.

Spain, he found, is lucky. Not having been in the war, she does not now have to help pay for it. Most of her people live a sturdy and sim-

This is a year when fresh flowers can take the place of bracelets, hair ornaments—even necklaces.

Some of Hollywood's most glamorous stars are going in for fresh floral decorations. Clusters of orchids, gardenias and sweetheart roses appear on the wrists and coiffures of society's smartest debutantes.

Be sure to choose flowers that suit your own personality and the gown you intend to wear. After all, gardenias would be entirely out of order on a delicate, Dresden china type of blouse. And a dainty wrist corsage of fresh violets wouldn't do a thing for a tall, sophisticated beauty in a Directorate gown. Orchids, however, are an exception. One on the wrist is pretty sure to flatter any woman, regardless of her type.

Don't buy three or four flowers, planning to arrange them yourself at the last minute. Enlist the aid of the florist, tell him exactly where you intend to wear the corsage and let him do a professional wiring job. If you want to wear gardenias around the neckline of an afternoon dress, have the flowers put together in a circular effect. A tight cluster of four, or possibly five, is best on the wrist.

Use Blossoms Sparingly
The formal year, two or three perfect blooms can be fastened across the front of any rather unpretentious and inconspicuous necklace you may possess.

If you want flowers in your hair, place two on the left side of the head, or one on each side, directly in front of the ears. Long haired girls can pin them into the bun at the nape of the neck. But don't wear too many flowers—or in too many places. If you have them across your throat and in your hair, don't wear a few on your wrist. Arranging them in more than two places is pretty sure to spoil the general effect. Of course, when flowers take the place of jewelry, an elaborate formal corsage to be worn at shoulder or belt would be out of place.

NEXT: Beauty for the Holidays.

Lovable

BEGIN HERE TODAY

ANN HOLISTER, pretty and 20, sells the family antiques to pay debts of her father, now dead. On the day of the sale a young man, stopped by water trouble, comes to her home to telephone. After he leaves Ann finds a blue vase missing and in its place a note signed "P.K." and $50.

"Ann gets work as a librarian and becomes friendly with SARAH KENT, also employee at the library. She meets TONY MICKLE, commercial artist, and is attracted by him, though Sarah warns her that Tony is hectic and irresponsible.

When Sarah asks Ann to share her apartment Ann agrees. She spends the evening with Tony and it is near midnight when she remembers she does not have the address of the new apartment.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER I'

TONY said, "You'll have to come over to my place. I'll give you the guest room, which is all the room I have, and I'll fold up on the rug outside the door."

"Gallant of you," said Ann, "but I have a better plan. Let's call information."

"Bright gal. Now, why didn't I think of that?"

They went into a drug store and Ann waited anxiously while Tony fished a packet from his pocket and made the call.

It was 2:30 when Sarah, with a dressing gown draped about her, opened the door and stared with sleepy eyes at Ann and Tony.

"I'm terribly sorry about the mixup," Ann said.

"And we had a great time," Tony said.

"Yes, I know. Tell me about it some other time. Ann, I could have called police but, knowing you were with Tony, I was sure nothing could possibly happen."

"No sarcasm, please," put in Tony. "Good night, Ann. If anybody asks me, I'll tell 'em you're a good gal and swell sport."

"You're a nice disposition, yourself. Anybody else would have called me a dumbbell for not having Sarah's address."

"You were just plain goopy. But I never did like women with brains."

"Here, here!" from Sarah. "If you two are going to make love on my doorstep at 3 o'clock I won't stay to hear you."

As she opened the door she heard Tony say, "Betcha you didn't know Ann is for 'Angelle.' And I didn't get that out of an etiquette book."

The door banged behind Sarah. In the 10 minutes before she fell asleep, she could hear their low voices. Sarah's last waking thought was, "Well, I warned her. If she falls for that line now she has no one to blame but herself."

ONE day, a month later, Ann was summoned to the private office of Mr. Griffin, the chief librarian.

"Sit down, Miss Holister," he began formally.

Ann waited, wondering. Perhaps her work had not been satisfactory. Perhaps the economy axe was being used and she was to be dismissed.

They went into a drug store. Ann waited anxiously while Tony made the call.

head of the family is old Peter Kendall, he lives at Kendallville where his main factory is located.

"We are planning to open a branch there, beginning in a small way. As we are not in position to build at present, we hope to use space in one of the buildings there. We have found a location that is suitable but Mr. Kendall has refused to rent it."

"Why? Doesn't he want his employees to have advantages?"

"Yes, he's rather a philanthropic sort. He wants them to have advantages he can give them. And as he didn't happen to think of a library, he isn't enthusiastic about the plan. He calls it 'interference,' and says when he's ready he will build and equip a library to suit himself."

Ann wondered what she could have to do with this affair.

The chief librarian read the question in her eyes. He continued, "Miss Dean will open the branch. But first we must persuade Mr. Kendall to let us open it. You've been selected to go out tomorrow to see him at his home. He's virtually retired from active business and spends most of his time at his residence."

"What could I do?" Ann asked, amazed.

"Sarah Kent has a very good opinion of you. She thinks that after Mr. Kendall talks with you, he'll end by endorsing the plan."

Ann smiled. "I'm afraid I've been over-rated, but I'll be glad to try."

SHORTLY after 2 o'clock the next afternoon Ann was driving along the highway that led to Kendallville.

In her modish blue suit, with a small blue hat set at an angle on her bright hair, she looked like a fortunate young woman with nothing to do but hunt pleasure in a shining little car. She looked cool, self-possessed. But she was neither cool nor confident.

She didn't particularly care for this job. Trying to persuade an obstinate old man to change his mind. It was too much like asking favors. Of course there was a difference. This was something requiring courage and wit and an interest in others. That gave it dignity.

The night before Sarah had told Ann about the Kendalls.

There was Mrs. James Kendall, daughter-in-law of old Peter Kendall, whose only interest seemed to be keeping the Kendall traditions inviolate and the Kendall fortune intact. There was Mildred Kendall Heath (Mrs. Jerry Heath), a fair sort and a frequent of lively parties, and there were Carol Kendall, current debutante and her twin, Donna. Then there was Peter—

"The little rabbit that ran about in Mr. MacGregor's garden," Ann had laughed.

Sarah had said, "No, he isn't that sort."

Which had left Peter pretty much up in the air. With all the other members of

Doing Nothing At All—

He made no mistakes, took no wrong road.
He never fumbled the ball.
He never went down 'neath the weight of the load—
He simply did nothing at all.

He lost no hard fight in defense of the right.
Never bled with his back to the wall.
Never fell faint with his limbs for the right—
He simply did nothing at all.

So death came nigh, for life slipped by.
And he feared for the Judgment Hall.
When they asked him why, he said with a sigh,
"I simply did nothing at all."

Oh, God will pardon your blunder my friend,
Or regard with pity your fall;
But the one big sell that surely will tell
Is to simply do nothing at all—fourth quarter opened.

Bobcats Held
Hope turned back the Tigers twice in the last quarter, on the first occasion after Little Rock had advanced to the 7-yard line. There the Bobcat line broke through to stop the Tigers on three attempts to penetrate the line. On a fourth down, Hobbs rushed in and smothered an attempted pass.

As the game came to a close the Bobcat line was fighting savagely to stave off a touchdown. Within two yards of the goal line, Thorp hit the line three times and failed to go across. The gun ended the game before another play could be completed.

Hope's two opportunities to score in the first quarter came when Payne shot a pass to Jack Turner who was downed on the 10-yard line. The pass was good for 30 yards. Spears and Payne advanced to the three-yard line, but on a fourth down Payne was unable to get around end.

The second chance came a few moments later when Jack Turner scooped up a fumble on the Tiger 30-yard line. Payne swept around right end for 20 yards and was forced out of bounds on the one-yard line. A penalty for taking too much time set the Bobcats back five yards. Four attempts to cross the goal failed.

Picking individual stars of the Hope team would be a difficult task. The entire squad put out every ounce of football in them. It was one of the greatest exhibitions of team spirit and fight seen on the Hope field in a long, long time.

Probably in the line it was Captain R. C. Kennedy at right end, Richards at guard and Stone at tackle. Anderson at the other end played a great game, and his punting was the best performance this year.

In the backfield, Madison's all-round work probably stood out above the

22% of Jobs Made by Road Transport

Oil and Motor Industry Furnish 24 1/2% of Arkansas Payrolls

WASHINGTON.—Automotive, petroleum, and other trades connected with highway transportation provide jobs and wages for one out of every five persons employed in wholesale, retail, and service trades in the State of Arkansas.

This statement, based on recently completed Census Bureau figures for the year 1933, was made here Monday by the National Highway Users Conference. Among other things, the conference analysis shows:

Out of a total of 20,794 wholesale, retail, and service establishments that operated in 1933 in Arkansas, 4,105, or approximately one fifth, were wholly dependent on motor transport.

Of the total payroll of $24,928,000 for all wholesale, retail, and service trades, $6,104,000 or 24.5 per cent, accrued from automotive petroleum, and allied trades.

The total volume of sales for all wholesale, retail, and service businesses in the state amounted to $308,751,000 of which $66,835,000 represented purchases by motor vehicle owners of all classes.

In proportion to the total volume of sales by all trades, the trades entering into highway transportation provided more jobs and a higher standard of wages, amounting for 22.1 per cent of jobs and 24.5 per cent of payrolls, as compared with 18.4 per cent of sales.

"These figures," said Roy F. Britton, director of the National Highway Users Conference, "enable us for the first time to get a clear and accurate conception of the contribution of the highway transportation industries to the economic welfare of the state."

"Except for the continued needs of the motoring public, every fifth business house or service establishment in Arkansas would close, every fifth person employed in the wholesale, retail, or service trades would lose his job; and one-fourth of the business payroll of the state would dry up instantly."

speedy Guy Payne, Madison was a constant threat. He was on the throwing end of several nice passes.

Although he was "on the spot," Payne reeled off two of the longest runs of the game, one of which was a 50-yard dash.

Delroy, a strong candidate for all-state honors. Payne's defensive work was outstanding.

Individual Credit
Jack Turner is another player deserving of much praise. A great blocker and a fine pass receiver, his alertness was responsible for a recovered fumble that he scooped up on Little Rock's 30-yardline to put the Bobcats in scoring position in the first quarter.

Much credit is due Luther Spears, the Bobcats fullback who can always be depended upon when yardage is most needed. Besides that he is one of the greatest defensive fullbacks ever turned out here.

Stroud and Cargile showed the crowd a nice performance in what time they were allowed to stay in the game.

But for heroic struggle, courage, fight and possession of that never-give-up spirit, honors go to Dennis Richards. Saturday was the greatest game of his career. It will be remembered here for seasons to come.

Hobbs at tackle knifed through the burly Tiger line to smear several passes. Stone drew much praise for his work, and will be watched next year as a strong candidate for all-state honors.

Moore, Holly, England, Owens and Reece played well in the Bobcat line. Although badly outweighed, the Bobcat forward wall showed more fight and aggressiveness than their opponents.

Outgain Visitors
Hope gained 371 yards from scrimmage as compared to 243 for the Little Rock team, but the Tigers' 14 first downs were five more than the Bobcats'. Hope had 11 punts for an average of 36 yards, while Little Rock's 11 averaged 33 yards.

J. B. Whitworth of the coaching staff of the University of Alabama, was an interested spectator at the Hope-Little Rock game here Saturday.

Following the game he had a few words with some of the Bobcat players as to their future education.

An indication of the fight displayed by one of the Bobcat football players came from Little Rock's veteran negro trainer.

When two of the big Tigers were

Minnesota Turns Down Rose Bowl

Alabama Probably Will Be Stanford's Opponent New Year's Day

PASADENA, Calif.—(AP)—The University of Minnesota has turned down an invitation to play in the Pasadena Rose Bowl football game New Year's day, a Pacific Coast Conference official said Sunday. Stanford is expected to be selected as the Western representative.

Minnesota turned down the bid because of Western Conference rules. "It was a foregone conclusion Minnesota would not accept an invitation but combat was made just the same," said the coast conference official.

It was also learned the University of Alabama, should it defeat Vanderbilt, has the inside track for the Rose Bowl bid.

Announcement of Stanford's selection is expected at Los Angeles Monday afternoon when the 10 votes of the Pacific Coast Conference schools will be counted, but if Washington State, also undefeated in the circuit, were to be given the bid it wouldn't be the first time the logical choice has been overlooked.

helped off the field with injuries, their fellow players asked who knocked them out.

Before anyone could say a word, the negro trainer spoke up: "Dat one-armed boy dat plays guard for Hope got both of 'em."

Covering the game for out-of-town newspapers were: Ben Epstein and Maurice Trubet of the Arkansas Gazette; Pack Keady of the Arkansas Democrat; and George Douthit of the Texarkana Gazette.

Several close friends of Coach and Mrs. Foy Hammons were here from Pine Bluff and Little Rock to witness the battle.

The press box in Hope's new stadium was a scene of confusion for awhile Saturday afternoon.

A cigarette flipped at the feet of one of the writers caught some scrap paper afire, and suddenly there were flames leaping into the air.

The fire, however, was extinguished without damage.

When Fullback Stillman bucked over that touchdown late in the second quarter it marked the first time that a Little Rock team ever crossed the goal line of a teach coached by Foy Hammons.

Big Freeman Stone came in for some praise from Earl Quigley, Little Rock coach, following the game. "Stone is one of the best tackles I have ever seen, not to have had any more experience," the coach said.

Stone is playing his first year here. He is 15 years old, and weighs close to 200 pounds. He has played in every game that he ever saw, except one. And that game was the Pine Bluff-Little Rock battle two weeks ago.

Little Rock football players as a whole said that the Hope team was the hardest-hitting outfit they had been up against all season. They said they came here expecting to win by at least 25 points.

Holding a victory over its No. 1 rival, the Prescott Curly Wolves, the Bobcat team started practice Monday to meet another bitter foe, the Nashville team on Turkey Day.

A victory over Nashville would give the team eight triumphs against three defeats for the most successful season in years.

Late Guardman's Policy Is Paid Off

A. O. U. W. of Kansas Delivers Check to Marianna Widow

First death claim under a group contract with the Arkansas National Guard was paid November 21 by the A. O. U. W. of Kansas through Major Sam C. Herria, Pine Bluff, group manager for the company, to Mrs. Raey B. Montgomery, Marianna, widow of Roland Montgomery, who was killed in an automobile accident there October 27.

Montgomery was one of the first Arkansas national guardmen to apply for this group insurance. His certificate for $1,000 was issued him on July 2, 1931, on payment of a semi-annual premium of $4. He would have been protected under the certificate through the first payment to January 1, 1935. Montgomery was affiliated as a private with Headquarters Battery, 205 Coast Artillery, stationed at Marianna, Ark.

Administration Opposes
WARM SPRINGS, Ga.—(AP)—Presidential thoughts turned Sunday night to the new congress with the summoning by Mr. Roosevelt of Senator Robinson of Arkansas, Democratic leader, and Senator Harrison of Mississippi, chairman of the finance committee, for a preliminary conference.

These two administration stalwarts, who will come here Monday will be depended on by the president to a great extent in keeping the overwhelming new deal forces on the administration path.

Of impending controversial issues, there is little doubt here of determined opposition to the immediate full payment of the soldiers bonus certificates. Senator Robinson and Harrison would be called on to help raise the funds should this proposition succeed, it was suggested.

As for new taxes, there is an obvious determination also to avoid a revenue raising bill at the income session.

OUR BOARDING HOUSE

LISTEN, PROFESSOR! MY LINCLE HAS A RACE HORSE, AN' I MADE UP THIS PIECE, BY BOUNCIN' TH' BOW ON TH' G STRING, SO IT SOUNDS LIKE HORSES' HOOFS IN A RACE, CLUPITTY-CLUPITTY-UP CLUPITTY-UP CLUPITTY-UP

ACH! IN DER MITTLE UF DER ELF'S VEDDING MARCH, YOU GALLOOMP IN MIT CLUPITTY-UPS! ACH HIMMEL! AUFUN, I GO BY YOUR AUNT UND TELL HER AWAY DER FITTLE TAKE, UND GET A GRIND ORGAN -YAH- SO YOU CAN BE DER MONKEY!

ALVIN IS AN IMPRESSIONIST

BOOTS AND HER BUDDIES

I COULD HARDLY BELIEVE MY EARS!!!! IMAGINE... BOOTSIE OF ALL PEOPLE INVITING, NOT ONLY ME, BUT MY FRIENDS, TO SPEND A WEEK OR SO AT BILLY'S HUNTING LODGE WITH THEM

...SO THE LITTLE YAP HAS FINALLY DECIDED TO COME DOWN OFF HER HIGH HORSE AND PLAY BALL WITH ME!

ALLEY OOP

WAR! DECLARED!!

KING GUZZLE, GRAND WIZZERWOWER OF MOO, TODAY CHARGED KING TUNK, MONARCH OF LEM, WITH THE ABDUCTION OF THE PRINCESS WOOTIE TOOT. THE MOO-VIAN COURT IS IN A FUROR. PREPARATIONS FOR IMMEDIATE INVASION OF LEM ARE UNDER WAY. "FLASH!" IT IS THOUGHT THAT THIS MOVE MAY THROW SOME LIGHT ON THE MYSTERIOUS DISAPPEARANCE OF OOLA, WHO DROPPED OUT OF SIGHT A SHORT TIME BEFORE THE PRINCESS VANISHED.

IN AS MUCH AS WE HAVE ESTABLISHED TH' FACT THAT KING TUNK, OF LEM, INSTIGATED THIS CRIME AGAINST TH' CAVE OF GUZZLE, AN' TH' LAND OF MOO, THERE REMAINS ONLY ONE COURSE OPEN TO US - WAR! GENTLEMEN: WE TAKE TH' FIELD AT DAWN!

WASH TUBBS

BLARING TRUMPETS ANNOUNCE THE ARRIVAL OF HIS ROYAL HIGHNESS, PRINCE PHILBERT, AT LILYPAD CASTLE. EVERYONE IS BREATHLESS WITH EXCITEMENT, EAGER FOR A GLIMPSE OF THE YOUTHFUL PRINCE.

FRECKLES AND HIS FRIENDS

WILL FRECKLES' KIDS PLEASE REPORT TO THE PLAYERS' BENCH IMMEDIATELY!!

GOSH... THEY'RE PAGING ME!!

DON'T FORGET, FRECKLES! A KISS, IF YOU SCORE... REMEMBER THAT... A BIG X!!

OKAY, BETTY... GOSH... OH BOY... HOLY SMOKE!!

NO TIME TO TELL YOU WHY! JUST PUT ON A FOOTBALL SUIT, AND GET OUT ON THAT FIELD AND PLAY!!

THAT'LL BE EASY... I PUT MY SUIT ON UNDER MY CLOTHES TODAY... JUST KINDA HOPING!!

THE NEWFANGLES (Mom'n Pop)

WHEN THE SHERIFF LEARNED OF THE LETTER LIL HAD LEFT WITH DAN, HE WASTED NO TIME OPENING IT.

LISTEN TO THIS - DEAR DAN - I AM POSITIVE THAT NICK KRAFT AND HIS MOE ROBBED YOU. THEIR HIDE-OUT IS IN THE ALLEY ON AVENUE A, BETWEEN 3RD AND 4TH STREETS, IN KENT CITY - I'VE GONE THERE TO RECOVER YOUR MONEY - HURRY FOR THEY'LL STOP AT NOTHING - YOURS, LIL

SHE'S IN DANGER! COME ON - LET'S GO! WE'VE GOTTA RESCUE HER!!

By AHERN OUT OUR WAY

GIMME THAT TWO BITS! HAND ME OVER THAT QUARTER! COULD ANYBODY DANCE UP AN' DOWN, LIKE THIS, IN A PAIR OF SHOES, IF THEY DIDN' FIT? PUT THAT QUARTER RIGHT IN MY HAND.

COME HERE, MA! HE BET ME A QUARTER THAT HE COULD WEAR MY SHOES - I ASK YOU, DO THOSE FIT? YOU SETTLE THIS!

YOU BET I'LL SETTLE THE WRECKING OF A PAIR OF NEW, SIX-DOLLAR SHOES - IF THE SHOES AREN'T ALREADY SETTLED!

WHY MOTHERS GET GRAY.

Whoopee!

SHE'S SMARTER THAN I GAVE HER CREDIT FOR BEING... BUT, SHE STILL HAS LOTS TO LEARN

WHOOPEE!

MMMM... WAY OFF IN THE WILDS... WHERE LIFE AND LOVE IS VEE-RECKLESS... WHERE I CAN GET BILLY BOY OFF BY HIMSELF AND NOT BE INTERRUPTED... WHAT COULD BE SWEETER? MONA DARLING... THINGS ARE PICKING UP

By MARTIN

By HAMLIN

MEANWHILE... HIGH UP ON THE ROCKY LEDGE FACING THE MOOVIAN PALACE -

SO!

WAR!

DOWN WITH LEM!

By CRANE

SLOWLY, THE CARRIAGE DOOR OPENS. A HEAD PEEPS OUT...

WOOF! WOOF!

... THEN OUT JUMPS HIS ROYAL HIGHNESS, BARKING LIKE A DOG.

By BLOSSER

PRINCESS JADA GASPS. EVERYBODY GASPS! THE PRINCE, STILL BARKING, GALLOPS OVER AND BITES HIS BRIDE-TO-BE ON THE LEG. HORRORS!

BOW! WOW!

By COWAN

HOLY COW! I FORGOT! HE DOESN'T KNOW THE SIGNALS!!

HAHA! SURE HE DOES... TWO WEEKS AGO I SWIPED A COPY OF THE ONES YOU WROTE, AND HE'S LEARNED THEM BY HEART!

YOU SWIPED THEM? GREAT GRIEF! AND I THOUGHT SOMEONE ELSE TOOK 'EM, AND I CHANGED EVERY SIGNAL AND PLAY... FRECKLES LEARNED THE WRONG SIGNALS!!

By COWAN

STEP ON IT, SHERIFF!

I HAD MY SUSPICIONS ALL ALONG, THAT LIL KNEW MORE ABOUT THE JOB THAN SHE LET ON

YOU CAN DO WHAT YOU PLEASE, NICK... BUT WHEN I DON'T SHOW UP, THAT LETTER WILL BE OPENED, AND YOU'LL BE CAUGHT!

OH, YEAH? WELL, A SMALL PART OF THAT 100 GRAND WILL BUY A LOT OF ALIBIS!
